Story

Who invented the first written characters? Since when have we had money? And where did democracy originate? Much that we take for granted today took centuries to develop. A Guide to World History outlines the most important events – beginning with the first people and ending with the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Centre, thus providing an overview of at least 600,000 years of human history.

Reinhard Barth

Reinhard Barth was born in 1943. He studied history, German and philosophy. He started out as an author for radio plays and is now a writer for political magazines and encyclopaedias.
