• Authentic depiction of youth language and everyday life
• From the author of the award-winning At the End of the World I Met Noah

About the power of art, friendship and love – this very special love story will warm your heart

They are talented street artists and have been best friends for as long as they can remember. Their pieces appear all over town, on walls, metro carriages and abandoned factory buildings, but nobody knows who is behind the mysterious BLUX tag. Jonas and Leander. Leander and Jonas. Nothing can come between them.

Until Leander falls in love with Lila, the cute girl with the golden hair long enough to sit on. And Jonas stumbles across the myth of the Chinese paintbrush and paints himself into a crisis. A book about friendship and art, about the deepest despair and the utmost devotion, and an all-redeeming love. This is a book that
