Eww! What the CEO of hell needs to be able to take. Towards the end of the work day a new pile of hell newcomers lands on the desk. Halleluja! (no, rather not...). How annoying. Luckily, an interesting TV show is coming up tonight.

A hell scientiest explains how house demons came into being. And Cornibus helps him (being the best example)! But now, pay attention, we were absolutely wrong about the demon's origin. And their magnificent skills! Believe it or not, demons are a scientific sensation. At the times of Noah and his ark, things have gone wrong. AnimalicDNA arrived at hell. Well and then... you should have a look at the show yourself!

Jochen Till

Jochen Till, born 1966, has been in hell for 20 years now in Section 66 (writers and other inventors of lies), condemned by Lucifer himself to write books for children and young people. What the devil doesn't know, however, is that he feels great down there and has a hell of a time doing it.
