Story

A Christmas miracle falling out of the sky...

The penguins in the Antarctic are confused: what's that strange little red thing that just fell out of the sky? And what are the strange signs and shapes that can be seen inside this thing? Naturally, penguins have never even heard of letters, nor Christmas. And so they cannot know what it is that they have found: Santa's top-secret book containing the wishes of children from all over the world. And as the penguins decide to uncover the secret of the treasure they have found, they encounter an even greater miracle: in the middle of ice and snow they discover the magic of Christmas.

Angelika Stubner
