The little truck and his friends have worked hard all day long on the construction site. A lot of things have to be bulldozed, excavated and built up until the kindergarten is finished. But now, they are tired and the little truck wishes everyone a good night.

LENA WALDE wanted to be a confectioner, author and horse farmer as a child. Nevertheless, she first studied English and educational science in Heidelberg and then worked as an English teacher before fulfilling her dream and becoming an author. Today, she writes for all children and adults who love stories as much as she does.

JOACHIM KRAUSE was born in 1968 in Kempen and now lives in Jever with his wife and three children. He studied graphic design at the University of Applied Sciences in Münster and has been a freelance illustrator of games and children's books for various publishers since 1997.

Come one, little goat! Get ready. We have to hurry. Put the scarf around your neck... The scarf? No, never ever! Too rough, too blue and too checkered. The little goat isn't cold anyway. Yes, when little goats become stubborn, tears flow, anger bubbles and complaints are loud.

This book shows how, with a little help, any bad situation can be turned up by a smile.

- ✓ Important family topics: the stubborn phase
- ✓ Supports parents and children in this difficult phase

Welcome to kindergarten! You can do so much here. After arriving and morning circle, children explore the climbing cave, draw or simply play with their friends. The children will serve themselves lunch and help cooking – and, of course, they'll brush their teeth themselves afterwards! Recharging energy during cuddle time and off they go again: The day ends way too fast and the children slide down the slides into their parents arms. Goodbye and see you tomorrow!

There is so much to do in this kindergarten – let's head on in!

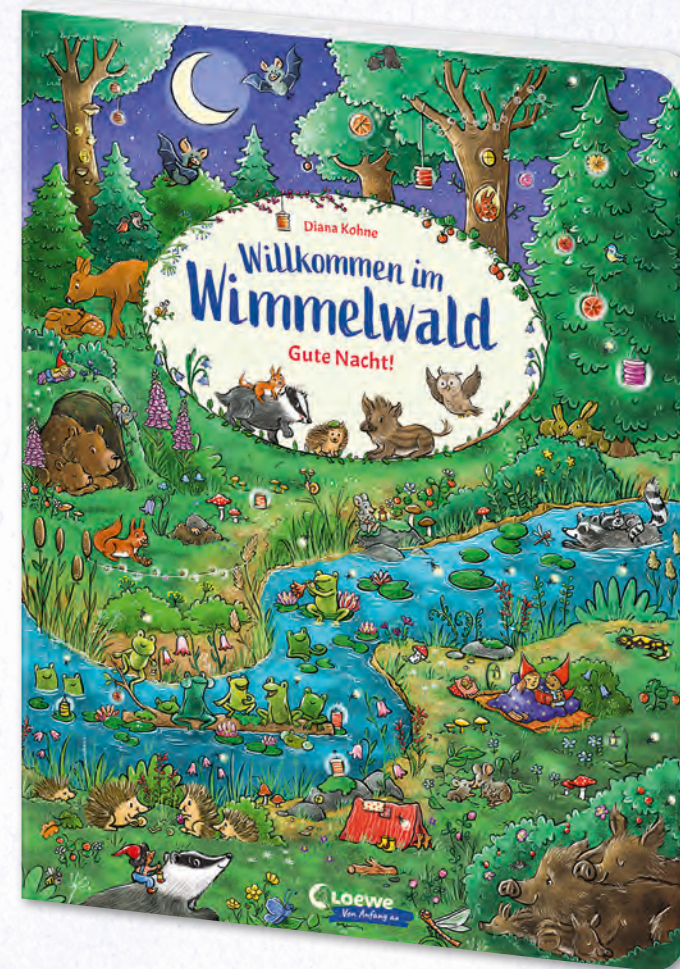

TESSA RATH, born in 1978, originally trained as an art therapist. In 2015, she decided to follow her true passion – illustration – and has since been working with various publishing houses. She lives with her husband, their two children, and their dog on the edge of a beautiful forest – the kind of place where fox and hare wish each other good night.

He is blue. He's bursting with ideas. And with him, every day turns into an adventure. This is Kobi Topsy-Turvy Bear!

What's that huge pile of old furniture, materials, and random junk towering up in the wild garden in front of the abandoned house next door? A brand-new world full of adventures, of course! Even if the grown-ups can only see reasons why it won't work. Full of curiosity, Kobi and his friend Kairi set out to conquer the pile and all its hidden treasures. But it seems a mysterious adventurer has already set up his headquarters there. That's bound to cause trouble ...

JUDITH WEBER is constantly buzzing with ideas. Luckily, she can turn some of them into children's books! She lives in Germany's Ruhr region with her husband, their four children, two tomcats, and a scruffy Icelandic pony.

Who hasn't experienced this? You're right in the middle of your favorite activity, and suddenly you're interrupted because you need to pee!

Little sloth Mo feels the same way. But the way to the bathroom is looooooong and full of exciting distractions. It's easy to lose sight of the real goal along the way... Until it suddenly becomes really urgent and nothing can stop Mo now!

JOCHEN TILL was born in 1966 in the urban jungle of Frankfurt/Main. As a typical sloth, he chose a profession in which you don't have to move. And so, since 1997, he has been sitting at his desk on his tree trunk, calmly writing one book after another.

LARISA LAUBER is an illustrator and animator. After graduating, she worked for many years as an animator for various studios in Germany and abroad. In 2014 it was time to try something new and so she started illustrating children's books.

On top of a hill between two apple trees stands a pretty farm. This is the Little Animals' Hotel. Here, Sheep Wolke, Parrot Plapper, Bernese Mountain Dog Berni and Cat Fine welcome their guests. Every day brings new fun and adventures.

This book makes reading together even nicer and more relaxing. Highlights in the text support the readers. Suggestions for interaction turn reading time into an intimate dialogue between parents and children.

Oben auf einem Hügel steht ein kleiner Bauernhof zwischen zwei Apfelbäumen. Das alte Bauernhaus hat ein knallrotes Dach und ist umgeben von bunten Blumenwiesen und grünen Weiden. Wenn du durch das Hoftor trittst, siehst du auf der einen Seite einen verwunschenen Weiher mit einer prächtigen Trauerweide. Ihre Äste reichen bis ins Wasser. Es gibt auch einen großen Gemüsegarten mit Tomaten- und Gurkenpflanzen. Auf der anderen Seite des Bauernhauses entdeckst du die gemütlichen Ställe und sogar eine Scheune. Und überall finden sich Verstecke und Nischen. Körbe und Kästen. All diese verschiedenen Unterkünfte sind sehr wichtig, damit sich die Gäste sofort wohlfühlen. Und himmlisch schlafen können. Denn das ist der kleine Bauernhof zwischen den beiden Apfelbäumen: ein wunderschönes Hotel für Tiere. Und jetzt möchtest du bestimmt wissen, wem dieses wunderbare Hotel gehört! Vier ganz besonderen Freunde: Plapper, dem Papagei, Wolke, dem Schaf, Berni, dem Berner Sennenhund und der kleinen Glückskatze Fine.

The speaking character and the way they speak are highlighted in bold and color.

Wusch! Plapper landet auf Fines Bank und krächzt laut: „Sie kommen! Sie kommen!“

Wolke reckt den Kopf aus dem Küchenfenster und Fine fängt an zu schnurren. Gleich ist es so weit!

Endlich taucht Berni mit dem Gepäckwagen auf der Hügelspitze auf. Neben ihm sieht sich Herr Dachs neugierig um. Als sie vor dem Bauernhaus ankommen, hebt er die Pfote, winkt und rufft: „Hallöchen zusammen! Wie wunderwunderschön es hier ist!“

Sofort fällt den Freunden ein großer Stein vom Herzen. So eine nette Begrüßung.

Berni reicht Herrn Dachs dessen Gepäck und Plapper krächzt: „Hier entlang, hier entlang, bitte!“ Er möchte dem Gast jetzt sein Zimmer zeigen.

This font is used for ideas for small interactions between parents and children. They can easily be left out.

Doch der stellt seinen Kopf unbefähig am Haus hina

leise: „Ich ... ich habe leide

Doch Plapper rufft: „Keine Sorge, Herr Dachs, wir haben uns was ausgedacht ...“

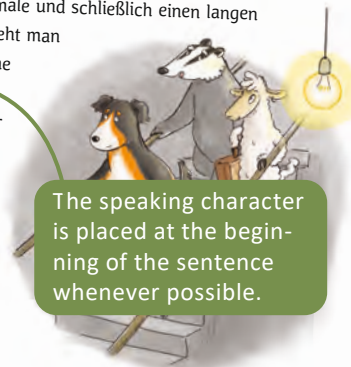

Wo könnten die vier Freunde Herrn Dachs wohl untergebracht haben?

Herr Dachs nimmt den Koffer auf und sagt erleichtert: „Wunder-wunderbar! Ich bin gespannt.“

Herr Dachs, Berni und Fine folgen dem Papagei in ... den Keller! Denn das Bauernhaus mit dem knallroten Dach hat einen ziemlich tiefen und großen Keller. Um dort hinunterzu-gelangen, geht es neben der Eingangstür eine breite Treppe hinunter, dann eine schmale und schließlich einen langen Gang entlang. Überall sieht man Türen, die in verschiedene Kellerräume führen.

Plapper stößt eine Tür ganz am Ende des Ganges auf und krächzt: „Tadaaa! Unser Spezial-Dachszimmer. Extra ohne Licht und Fenster.“

The speaking character is placed at the beginning of the sentence whenever possible.

ANDREA SCHÜTZE tried pretty much every hobby you can imagine when she was a child. She stuck with reading, and that's why she now loves writing books herself. She has a journeyman's certificate as a ladies' tailor and a degree in psychology, but no swimming badge. She lives with her daughters and cats in the Black Forest.

JUTTA BEREND was born in Oldenburg in 1988 and grew up in Leer (East Frisia). As a child she loved lying on the floor and drawing or arguing with her two sisters. Today she loves her family (even her sisters!), her children, animals, stories and, above all, her work as a freelance illustrator. And cake.

Phew, under the warm blanket Alice just can't fall asleep. Luckily, Aunt Maryam has a great idea: in the hammock on the balcony, they fly into space. But how do astronauts up in space actually sleep? The little camel is too hot – and then suddenly too cold at night. Deserts are simply awful! Why do they even exist? And why do we actually get sick? Kimi wants to know, because a cold means she can't join her friend's birthday party.

The answers to these and many other children's questions can be found in this book, wrapped in exciting read-aloud stories. For everyone who really wants to know everything!

STORY TIME

ANNE AMELING was born in 1976 in the Münsterland region and studied history, English and Romance studies in Cologne. She then worked at a publishing house in Cologne. As a freelance author, editor and creator of texts for various media, she has been enthusiastically delving into new topics again and again for many years. She has been writing children's books since 2010.

IRIS HARDT, born in Essen in 1971, studied design in Münster. She illustrates for various children's and schoolbook publishers. Today she shares a studio in Münster with another graphic designer.

WHAT POO CAN DO
 Why a little turd is more than just smelly garbage
 no. 1938
 Colorful illustrations by Cornelis Jettke
 Published in March 2026
 80 pages
 All Rights available.

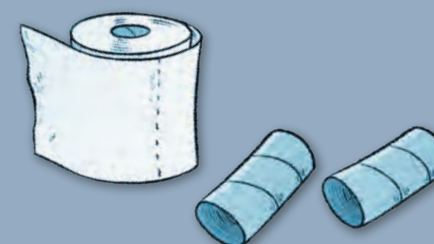

We all have to go to the toilet, that's a fact. But while most of us flush right away, the brown stuff can actually help medical professionals detect and fight diseases. And that's far from all: old bags of human waste left on the Moon can reveal whether life might be possible up there, dried sewage sludge can be used as an environmentally friendly fuel, and some kinds of poop can even make you rich. What poop is really capable of, and the fascinating history of the bathroom, is revealed in this brilliant nonfiction book.

CHRISTINE PAXMANN found her true calling: books, after studying German literature and graphic design and taking a brief detour into advertising. She runs a book concept agency, is the editor of the literature magazine Eselsohr, and especially enjoys writing children's nonfiction books, as they allow her to learn a great deal herself. She lives in Munich with her family.

CORNELIS JETTKE studied communication design at Munich University of Applied Sciences and works as an illustrator and comic artist, focusing on children's books, nonfiction, and search-and-find books. His work often features nature, adventure, and fictional worlds, but also centers on conveying factual knowledge in an engaging and humorous way.

We humans are quite a special species: we consider ourselves intelligent and self-determined, yet in reality we are guided by social and behavioral patterns that are millions of years old. Are our Stone Age brains really equipped to handle the challenges of the modern world? This book reveals what defines us as humans, what influences and drives us and why we should urgently embrace the animal within us.

NIKOLAI RENGGER was born in Karlsruhe and studied Visual Communication at the HfG in Pforzheim. He works as a freelance illustrator for various publishers and agencies and has been part of Atelier Remise in Karlsruhe since 2013. He has always found animals hilarious!

Series Information:

The Picture Mouse series tells exciting stories about the adventures of a lovable character or a fascinating setting. In the text, all main nouns are replaced by small pictures that children aged 5 and up can recognize and name while reading (or being read to) together. This gently introduces children to the process of reading and allows them to have “read” their very first book even before starting school!

On the magical island of Auria, the great island festival is about to begin. Just as the last guests arrive, a terrible storm is brewing. The wizard Remus and the island witch Milli try to drive the storm away using all their combined magic — but without success. Their powers are not strong enough. Then a dragon lands right in the middle of the festival grounds! Of all things, a dragon! Dragons don't actually exist on Auria. Everyone is frozen in shock — except for the elf boy Albin and the troll girl Tara. They think the dragon is super nice. And super cool, too, because he has magical powers. Could he help chase the storm away?

CHAPTER BOOKS

The young mustang mare Luna roams the adventurous prairie with her herd. One night she discovers that she has a special gift: she is a moon whisperer!

In their search for water, the wild horses are driven of all places into the territory of a black bear! And then Luna's mother Ina injures her hoof as well. This not only makes it impossible for the herd to move on – it also makes Ina easy prey. In her desperation, Luna asks the full moon for help. It will surely protect them from the bear! Or will it? Because suddenly something seems to go wrong with the moon whispering ...

PICTURE STORIES:
LOEWE WOW!

BARBARA VAN DEN SPEULHOF once encountered a dragon herself as a child. Probably even a real dragon. That day, she wished that one day she would write stories about dragons. And that's exactly what she does today. In her numerous books, she not only writes about dragons, but also about trolls, elves, and other creatures with paws, wings, or feet. She encounters these creatures everywhere, either on her travels or in Frankfurt am Main, where she lives.

ANKA SCHWELGIN loves dinosaurs, animals, and nature. After studying environmental protection, she quickly realized that her everyday work lacked creativity. Following her passion for writing and painting, she now works as a picture book author and illustrator.

Elli paints her dream horse with her grandmother's magical paints. Suddenly, everything blurs before her eyes and Miracle Mane comes to life.

Elli is finally back in Umbra! But the moment she arrives, she senses that something is terribly wrong: fierce winds are raging across the usually peaceful island. Elli immediately sets out to find her beloved mare Miracle Mane, but instead she encounters a shy golden wild horse. It's injured and urgently needs help. Could the unusually strong wind have something to do with it? Together with her friends, Elli is determined to help the mysterious mare. And to do that, they must seek the advice of the mountain witch Waiduka...

A warning reaches the hidden valley: a massive storm is gathering in the distance, heading straight for Umbra. It will surely cause terrible damage to the island. Elli can't let that happen! Together with her friends, she follows the winged horse Stella up to the Cloud Academy to ask for help. But instead of support, they're met with mockery from the arrogant Cloud Riders. So who is supposed to calm the storm now? It seems that only the friendship magic between Elli and Miracle Mane can still save Umbra.

JANA HOCH was born in Hannover and still lives near the city. She draws inspiration for her Miracle Mane-series from her love and close relationship with her horse Jamie. She wants to reach as many children as possible with her books to teach them about the love of animals.

Echo is the youngest orca in his family, and he still has a lot to learn from the older whales. Hunting is especially difficult for him, and he relies on help when looking for food. But when a new calf is born, Echo has to prove himself, and that's not easy at all! The thing is, he doesn't have to manage everything on his own, because orcas hunt as a team. Luckily, the wide ocean offers plenty of chances for Echo to rise to the challenge. In a sheltered bay, Echo's family meets another orca pod whose matriarch tells a mysterious story about missing whale children. Why were they never seen again? And then one night, Echo can hardly believe his eyes: a strange orca girl swims through the sea like a lonely shadow. Could she be one of the missing orcas?

SABINE GIEBKEN, born in Munich in 1979, began filling her school notebooks with stories as a child. After earning a degree in business administration, she spent some time on a Canadian research island and almost became a marine biologist. Today, she writes books for children and young adults.

TOBIAS GOLDSCHALT has spent years in advertising after his studies. After he became self-employed, he focused on drawing again. Today he illustrates children's and young adult books as well as computer games, greeting cards and packaging.

Psst...! Hey you, yes, you! SOS! Your reading skills are needed. Come on! Wake up! Come on, you must open the book.

How lucky that you're reading this! A dragon urgently needs your help! You like dragons, don't you? They're those cool, fire-breathing creatures that can fly! And you're brave enough for an adventure, right? However, I must warn you: you may find yourself reading on and on, even though you should really be sleeping. Your head may spin from all the letters. Because reading can be exhausting! And, of course, it can be addictive. Maybe you'll devour a thousand books afterwards, who knows?! So if you're willing to take the risk and help me, then come along with me into the story!

Gwin can hardly believe her luck: she has become Madame Manou's magic apprentice, together with her friends Jun and Ignatius! But their cozy everyday life of enlargement spells, star salamanders, and raspberry pancakes doesn't last long. One day, while Gwin is tidying up the magic shop on her own, a mysterious visitor appears and his wind-magic powers immediately fascinate her. As tradition demands, he pays with a long, raven-black hair. Gwin can't resist. She weaves it into Madame Manou's magical protection net without waiting for the witch's approval. Suddenly, the entire magic shop goes wild! Staircases turn into slides, doors refuse to open, and on top of that an unknown island appears on Gwin's map world...

VERENA MAIER was born in 1992 in Eichstätt, Germany. After finishing school, she jumped on a plane to Shanghai and discovered an entirely new world. Upon returning home, she studied Japanese Studies and Media Studies in Tübingen. Today, she lives and works near Munich. In her search for more magic in everyday life, she finally found her passion in writing.

INDIANA ACOSTA is an illustrator from Germany with Cuban roots. After studying Game Art, she went on to teach character design. Indi loves fantasy worlds and feels most at home in the world of books. Tierra and Sol's mother is coming to visit from Mexico. She has MS and sometimes uses a wheelchair. In Flora's plant book, the siblings discover a clue about the seed of the legendary World Willow – a seed said to cure any illness. They suspect it might be hidden in the Nightshade headquarters, and indeed, Sol and Tierra manage to steal it. But should they really give this one and only seed in the world to their mother? Or would it be better to plant it and grow a tree that could help countless people – but only in three hundred years?

VANESSA WALDER was born in Heidelberg in 1978 and grew up in Vienna. She became a freelance writer in 2001 with the publication of the first volume of the Sisters series. Strange shooting stars are shaking the land. Could it be the legendary Cursed Gold falling from the sky? It is said to turn animals into dangerous giants! Of all days, on their tenth birthday, twins Valea and Sandor learn that they are the last guardians of the Cursed Gold. Their mission is to protect the land from the golden giants and the power-hungry Kleonibus. Will the two be able to stop the enormous monsters and the dangerous ruler? A race against time begins ...

CHRISTIAN FRIEDRICH has not yet encountered a golden giant. Instead, he and his wife Cally Stronk share their lives with a small cat boasting a gigantic amount of self-confidence. Christian writes for various publishing houses and lives and works in Berlin. He also travels all across Germany with his live reading shows.

By winning the "I Draw a Clown" art competition, DAVID FÜLEKI launched his career in the 1990s. This was followed by numerous national and international awards and publications. He shares his expertise with fellow illustrators — especially through week-long workshops that he organizes all across Germany.

Eight teenagers set out to reach the summit of the Zugspitze mountain – by themselves, without anyone knowing about it, and without the slightest idea of what's in store. It's when they leave the marked trail the catastrophe starts to unfold. They lose all sense of direction and are caught up in a terrible storm which forces them to shelter in a small, derelict mountain hut. Hours go by, and they become increasingly jittery. The teenagers reveal the ugliest side of themselves – and the following morning, one of them has disappeared, leaving only a pool of blood behind – and a question: Is one of them a murderer?

Readers who enjoy a spine-chilling tale with a clever plotline will be delighted with this story.

It's finally spring and Easter is close. That means a lot of work for the Easter bunny and his helpers. But the other animals also decorate busily or prepare their garden and houses. They enjoy the first warm days and are looking forward to the festivities.

JOACHIM KRAUSE was born in 1968 in Kempen and now lives in Jever with his wife and three children. He studied graphic design at the University of Applied Sciences in Münster and has been a freelance illustrator of games and children's books for various publishers since 1997.

Meet our Loewe Licence-Team

What do a quick-thinking library guardian, a pony with a mind of its own, a crime-sniffing dog and a very distracted little sloth on its way to the toilet have in common? They all live in worlds that spark imagination – and they all started their journeys at Loewe.

We believe children's books should do more than just tell stories. They should challenge, comfort, surprise, and stay. That's why our titles range from interactive fantasy adventures in a magical library, where readers help protect a stolen dragon egg, to warm-hearted stories set on a pony farm, to fast-paced, humorous detective cases told from a dog's point of view, and picture books that turn everyday topics – like going to the bathroom – into funny, reassuring read-aloud moments. Our list is rich with emotion, humour, magic – and most importantly: a deeper meaning.

For over 150 years, we've been dedicated to igniting a love for reading in children. We believe there's a perfect book for everyone and we take pride in crafting stories that cross borders and bring joy to new readers. Because who doesn't love to have fun? And at Loewe, we make reading fun. Dive into our imaginative and versatile program – we know you'll love the journey!
