He has the voice of an angel.
Only she knows his devilish side.

“Nobody writes relatable heroines and book boyfriends who worship the ground they walk on like Marina Neumeier.”

SPIEGEL bestselling author Kyra Groh

- As forbidden as it is seductive – Curvy singer meets a bad boy with “touch-her-and-die” heart
- Rivals to lovers x Forbidden love between discipline and freedom
- Opera and intrigue: the glittering facade of a world full of secrets
- Active SPIEGEL bestselling author with a large social media community

MARINA NEUMEIER, born in 1995 in Erding, studied art history in Munich and, after a few professional forays into the art world, now devotes herself primarily to writing. The multiple SPIEGEL bestselling author is an avid bookworm herself, loves to travel and to sing – with a particular fondness for the world of opera, which also shapes her new book. Further information about the author can be found on Instagram and TikTok at @marina.writing.

Icaro Palladino is the wildly acclaimed darling of the opera world – and Aria's personal nemesis. She is certain that his father sent her to prison. But when she receives the offer to go on a European tour together with Icaro, she has to strike a deal with the devil. Although Aria has been singing under a false name ever since the scandal surrounding her father, Icaro recognizes her immediately. His Giulietta. The girl from back then has changed, and yet he feels undeniably drawn to her. The fact that Icaro is driven by his own motives that lie in the dark does nothing to change the fact that a liaison ignites between them, one fueled by more than hostility. And one that could bring truths to light that are hidden for very good reasons.

The Phantom of the Opera meets Romeo & Juliet meets Succession: Icaro Palladino is the son of the greatest opera singer of all time, Aria Shaw the voice of a generation. Their lives play out on the stages that mean the world – a world full of intrigue, passion, and scandal, in which a single wrong note is enough to bring them down.

Welcome to cloud nine – the new edition of the bestseller!

“Read countless times, thought about it endlessly, eternally engraved in my heart, in my soul, on the cinema screens in my mind.
Olivia’s and Nick’s story will forever be one of my favorites.”

Marie Weis, author of Words Like Feathers

- The updated new edition of the bestseller in a lovingly designed format with bonus material
- Sad girl x Shy guy, when flight attendant Olivia meets pilot and artist Nick
- A book like a work of art: poetic, inspiring and powerful
- Jet set – fall in love in London, Paris, and all over the world

GABRIELLA SANTOS DE LIMA, born in 1997 in São Paulo, lives for indie music. She prefers to work in her conservatory office in Goslar with indie music turned up loud. The SPIEGEL bestselling author was a flight attendant before she devoted herself entirely to writing. ABOVE THE CLOUDS
The Sky in Your Colors (Vol. 1)
no. 2494
To be published in December 2026
464 pages
All Rights available.

Only 246 days left. Olivia staggers numbly through the world ever since she decided to stop feeling anything, because she had felt far too much. Since then, she has been counting the days until she can finally hang up her job as a flight attendant and start her math degree in Oxford. Until her life can finally really begin. Nick’s life is predetermined. His father was a pilot, his brother is a pilot, he will be a pilot. He has to give up his dream of art in order to be a real Saint James. But when Olivia and Nick meet again after so many years, his paintings stir something inside her. Even though her world is actually that of numbers. Even though she is supposedly not feeling anything at all anymore.

Flight attendant x Pilot in the revised first volume of Gabriella Santos de Lima’s first new adult trilogy. In addition to everyday airline life and a whole lot of girlhood vibes, the SPIEGEL bestselling author focuses on self-discovery and self-determination, one’s own expectations vs. those of others, and on what happens when dreams fail – and how you can make them come true.

Plagued by memory lapses. And all that's left is you.

"If the Bank of Memories existed, I would hand mine in there just to be able to read this book again for the first time.
Bittersweet romance, banter, and so much yearning ... More, please!"

SPIEGEL bestselling author Emily Bähr

- Gloomy romantasy with depth: a love between unspoken truths and memory gaps
- Immersive worldbuilding with dystopian elements and assassin vibes
- Slow burn enemies to lovers with a badass fighter and a broken hero
- Strong and authentic heroine with an own voice that lives with chronic illness

P. J. RIED lives in Hanover and rediscovered her passion for writing through her studies in literary. Since then, she has regularly lost herself in fantastic worlds, which, thanks to her poor sense of direction, fortunately is no problem at all. When she is not diving into stories, she loves gaming or watching series and anime. She also dreams of a life by the sea with tons of sushi and a cat. In a world where memories become currency, Maree only has one goal: to regain her own. In her search, she breaks into the quarters of the Guild, which manages all memories. But she is not the only one intending to rummage through the archive of her past. At first, she does not know why his gaze affects her so deeply. But when Cayde calls her by her real name, Maree realizes that he knows more than he cares to admit. Despite all the secrets, they join forces: Maree, to remember – Cayde, to forget. For the shadows of his past threaten to catch up with him again and again. The closer they come to their goal, the tighter the Guild's net draws around them. Maree has no idea how deeply Cayde is already entangled in the power play and that their memories have long since been woven together.

Hidden pasts, dangerous power play, and in the midst of it all a fragile love: the beginning of a gloomy romantasy duology featuring a female bodyguard and a man who is willing to risk everything.

Welcome back to Mont Lacroix. Welcome home!

“Give me fake dating, give me a found family, give me hot banter and I’m in anyway. But the emotional depth of Addis and Jules made the story something truly special for me!”

SPIEGEL bestselling author Kyra Groh on Falling for Adelaide

“The attraction between Eloise and Dante is tangible. Their relationship gains depth so convincingly that I had a pounding heart the whole time. Mont Lacroix is an absolute feel-good place.”

SPIEGEL bestselling author Anya Omah on Waiting for Eloise

- Volumes 2 and 3 of the cozy feel-good series
- Luxurious vacation setting in the Alps
- About love and (found) family
- By SPIEGEL bestselling author Alexandra Flint

ALEXANDRA FLINT loves the mountains, extraordinary hotels with good food, and stories about strong family bonds. So, it was only a matter of time before one of her new adult series was set in an exclusive hotel in the Alps. When the SPIEGEL bestselling author is not out in nature, she lives with her family in Munich, where she studied electrical engineering and information technology and now devotes herself entirely to writing. She also blogs about the author's life and her travels. Further information can be found on Instagram at @alexandraflint.autorin or on TikTok at @alexandra.flint.

BACKLIST

Sports science student Adelaide Lacroix is always on the move. But when her training partner drops out, she starts to stumble – until she meets Jules at her parents' luxury hotel. Or rather: Count Julian von Lindenburg. Jules is supposed to marry his aristocratic ex-girlfriend soon, something he wants to prevent at all costs. And Addi of all people could be his solution. He promises to stick to Addi's training plan with her if she will play his fake date. A simple arrangement that quickly spirals out of control. Because sparks fly between the two of them, and there is more behind the families' wedding plans than expected ...

Dante is the social media manager at Mont Lacroix and is considered the sunshine of the hotel, but as soon as anyone gets too close to him, he shuts down. His fears run too deep for anyone to see – until Eloise stumbles into his life. Eloise, who urgently needs a break and therefore takes an assistant position at the Lacroix. Falling in love is not part of the plan. But Dante turns her world upside down in an unexpected way: during the preparations for an event, their feelings are thrown wildly into turmoil. Until Eloise is overtaken by her problems and Dante suddenly faces an impossible decision ...

Caught between his protection and her longing, they stand on the edge of a fall.

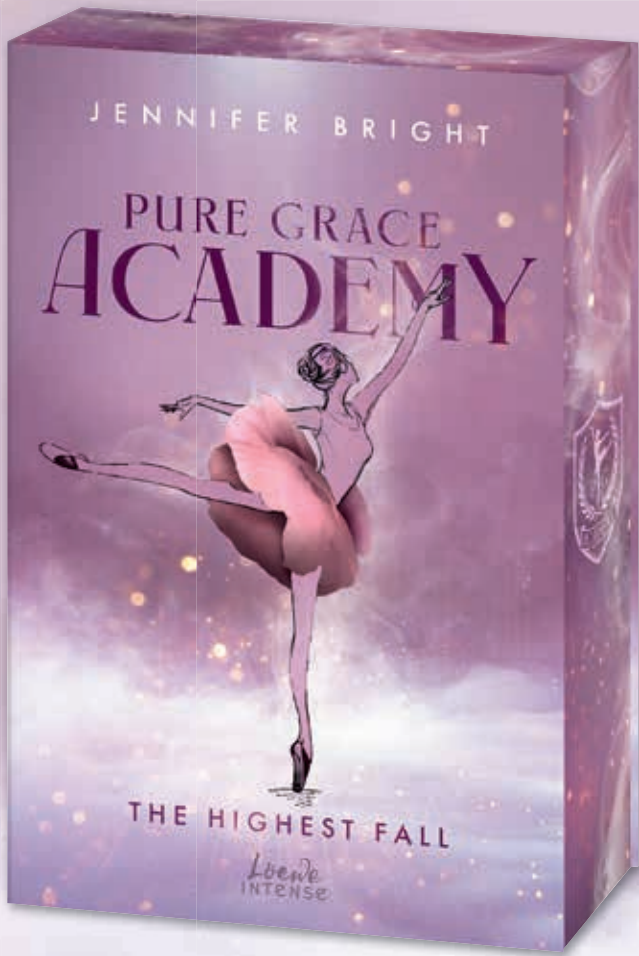

“A bodyguard and a ballet dancer? Count me in! Luna and Zane’s story has the perfect blend of suspense, sensuality, and depth. I couldn’t put the book down.”

Elle Ellis, author of Newport Bay Club

- An elegant dance between danger and intrigue: dynamic action meets the perfectly poised world of ballet.
- Haters to lovers with a hot bodyguard, brother’s best friend, and dark academia vibes
- Immersive writing style with vivid language and passionate spice!
- SPIEGEL bestselling author with a large social media community

JENNIFER BRIGHT was born in 1993 in Hanover and still lives there together with her husband and her cat. Fascinated by the elegance and beauty of dark truths, she most loves bringing stories to life that get under your skin. She drinks more coffee than is good for her and cannot imagine a life without cats, books, and TV series. Further information about the author can be found on Instagram at @jenniferbright.utorin and on TikTok at @jennifer.bright.

BACKLIST

Luna Delgado’s big dream is within reach: a position in the ballet ensemble of the Paris Opera after graduating from the Pure Grace Academy. But shortly before the final exams, she becomes the target of anonymous threats against her mother, the head of the Spanish intelligence service. In order for her to be allowed to stay in Paris, Luna is assigned a bodyguard. Zane is uncompromising, confident, dangerously attractive – and, to top it all off, also her brother’s best friend. He is setting rules she immediately wants to break. As the threat draws closer, the lines between duty and desire begin to blur. Because it’s not only Zane’s mission and Luna’s safety that are at stake, but also feelings that could destroy them both.

Between Barcelona and Paris: in the second volume of the Pure Grace Academy, SPIEGEL bestselling author Jennifer Bright unleashes a forbidden love in the midst of deadly intrigues. Ballet in dark academia style meets haters to lovers and a gripping bodyguard romance that crackles like wildfire.

Every one of his songs tastes like her summer.

- A love letter to listen to: second chance between two singers
- Old money vibes in a dreamy south of France setting
- Mental health representation in poetic language

Margaux never wants to fall in love again, because the first time ended in disaster. Four years have passed, yet she still thinks about Oskar. Oskar, that ~~terribly sensitive, empathetic~~ boy with whom she spent an entire summer. He was just eighteen, crazy about his music – and about her. Today he is the singer of a successful indie band that Maggie, of course, does not follow on social media. When she gets the chance to take part in a songwriting camp in the south of France, Maggie has to return to the place she last visited at sixteen. The place where Oskar is now also retreating to write new songs that somehow still all sound like Maggie.

In the final volume of her new adult series about the French fragrance dynasty Fleur de Lavande, SPIEGEL bestselling author Gabriella Santos de Lima writes about a second chance for first love – a second chance between memories, mental health, music, and dreams.
