For the very first time Pit may come aboard the huge pirate ship. Together with the pirates he sails across the oceans and encounters sea monsters, boards an enemy ship and in the end finds a real treasure. For all this action the pirate flag is very important but in the chaos it sometimes gets lost. So, where is the pirate flag? On each page it is hidden somewhere and little peep holes in the book help the young reader to find the flag on the next page. These large cardboard books inspire children to play and discover. While centring around a specific theme, like life in the city or life in medieval times, the pictures leave plenty of space for children to use their imagination and to develop their own stories. On each double page the same object is hidden somewhere spurning the children to go searching for it. · Numerous peepholes create amusing surprises · Busy pictures with plenty to look at · Short texts motivate children to look for an object · Ideal picture book for the entire family
