Tafiti and Bristles are back!

The honey has run out – and a breakfast without honey is like Africa without sunshine. The only place to get hold of another jar is the beehive. The bees, however, have no intention of sharing their honey with Tafiti and Bristles. Luckily, help is on hand in the form of some creative termites and a professional honey thief – and in the end there is plenty of honey for everyone, help for the bees and a big party in the meerkat garden.
