An idyllic farm paradise ... and this stubborn little donkey!

- Picture book about our beloved stubborn Donkey No-Never-Ever
- Fall in love with the witty cast of characters on the farm
- Narrated humorously by multi-talent Martin Baltscheit, congenially illustrated by Claudia Weikert
- Great 'Story Time' fun for the whole family, supporting the 'Growing up' age and difficulties with board books about everyday life challenges

""Everything has to change!"" the farm animals think and have lots of ideas about how to get the new farmer Claire to redesign the farm according to their wishes. "Better not," Little Donkey No-Never-Ever thinks, who likes life as it is. But before he knows it, he's in the middle of a plan for a 'paradise' on the farm. With the flash of his eyes, he can convince Claire of any task, no matter how absurd, that urgently needs to be done.

So the cow gets a massage, the chicken coop a new coat of paint and the pig wallow becomes a pool.

Until poor Claire collapses from exhaustion and the animals are forced to conclude contritely: a summer full of adventures?

- Yes! But a paradise without Claire? - No never ever! So now the animals pitch in and make sure that the farm becomes a paradise for everyone.

The small, stubborn donkey No-Never-Ever is the reference point of every story. With his likeable way of stubbornly refusing to do some things, he repeatedly gets the animal family on the farm and the owner Claire into trouble. At the same time, he has a delightful twinkle in his eye that Claire finds hard to resist... As a result, he causes all sorts of commotion, thrilling little readers and even leaving adult readers smiling. About cohesion, friendship, small happiness and the really big questions!
