The Forest Fights Back!

Fire alarm in the forest! Two troublemakers have buried their loot in the woods – and then fallen asleep next to their campfire. The flames spread fast, and danger is on the rise. Thankfully, the water-breathing dragon brothers Rattazong and Kingkong rush to the rescue! But the forest won't let carelessness go unpunished. Can the woodland creatures come up with a clever plan to teach the intruders a lesson? A fun-filled chapter book series full of fast-paced action, a lively forest setting, and unforgettable characters – perfect for young readers who love teamwork, comedy, and a bit of wild magic.

Barbara van den Speulhof

Barbara van den Speulhof once encountered a dragon herself as a child. Probably even a real dragon. That day, she wished that one day she would write stories about dragons. And that's exactly what she does today. In her numerous books, she not only writes about dragons, but also about trolls, elves, and other creatures with paws, wings, or feet. She encounters these creatures everywhere, either on her travels or in Frankfurt am Main, where she lives.
