The second volume to the new series about the 13 year old Luzie and her guardian angel or “body protector” Leander. Leander’s body curse has now been discovered by his family – something he desperately tried to avoid. This means he is now forced to take care of someone else (guinea pigs to be precise). Luzie is curiously disappointed at Leander’s disappearance, but what is much worse: she is assigned a new body protector, a dull and boring person. Luzie decides there is only one thing she can do to escape her cursed protector: grow up as quickly as possible, because adults no longer have guardian angels...unless there still may be the slightest possibility that Leander is re-assigned to her...?

Bettina Belitz

Bettina Belitz was born in Heidelberg in 1973, and very soon fell under the spell of the book shelves. It wasn’t long before reading wasn’t enough – no, she had to scribble her own stories down, too. After university, Bettina Belitz worked as a journalist until she was able to devote herself to her youthful enthusiasms. Nowadays, she lives surrounded by horses, sheep, cats and chickens in a village of 400 inhabitants in Westerwald, where she is inspired by nature and weather to write her novels.
