Lola's life is riddled with crises. Mum is undergoing a baby-crisis. Auntie Lizzie has an engagement-crisis. Lola's best friend Flo has an Enzo-crisis (a crisis that happens when a foster brother moves in, who thinks that 'behavioural problems' are just the ticket!). However, the most dangerous crisis of them all is Lola's – she's got an identity-crisis. She has simply no idea what to do in the evening! After having a go at being a nun (too dull), and a grave-digger (too gloomy), she comes across the ideal solution at school, 'the perfect dinner' project. Lola signs up at once. Her evenings have been instantly salvaged, since, as the famous stellar cook, Cocada Delicada, she makes the world a happier place with her magical recipes. However, it remains to be seen whether Lola's life really is free of crises from now on...
