The building site is a hive of activity! Here people are digging, shifting heavy loads, hammering - and searching. Searching for the little excavator that has vanished in all this confusion. So, where is the little excavator? The answer is not so difficult: if you can't find it, simply turn the page! Then one of the peepholes will show you where it is. These peepholes lead the children along with the young excavator fan Paul from the building site of a new house to the repair works done on the motorway and ends up at the building site at kindergarten.
