Story

Lola wants to amaze the whole world with her novels. She's got plenty of stories, but writing them down is something else. Three hundred biro's and three false starts later, Lola slips on Leandro's nappy and breaks her leg. Just what she needed! Why, oh why did it have to happen just before the start of the summer holidays (with a Hip-Hop Workshop, a Circus Experience, and other terrific plans) and Alex due to arrive from Paris (very important)? That said, anyone who thinks Lola is in for the most boring summer holidays ever, is quite wrong. From her window, she can watch all sorts of weird things going on. Is their neighbour planning to commit a crime? Well, obviously Lola (in a very up to date electric wheelchair that Mum has found) and her friends are going to do their best to clear up the case of the 'Rear window'...

- A bestseller for more than 10 years

Isabel Abedi

Isabel Abedi was born in 1967. After finishing school she spent a year in the US, working as an au pair girl and as an intern for a film production in Los Angeles. After her return to Germany, Isabel Abedi trained as an advertising copywriter. In the evenings she started writing stories for children and dreamed of being able to live off her own writing one day. This dream has come true now: today Isabel Abedi is a passionate writer of children's literature, writing for various publishing houses. With her series about the lovable Lola she has written herself into the hearts of critics and readers alike.

Her books have been translated into several languages and have been decorated with awards. Isabel Abedi lives in Hamburg, Germany.
