Story

Cat Crime with an iconic Detective!

- By the best-selling author of more than one million books, Frauke Scheunemann!
- Written in an exciting thriller style
- Teenage life narrated from the perspective of Winston the cat
- Over 280,000 copies of the series sold

Following the sensational success of Hercules the dog in Dackelblick (500,000 copies sold!), Spiegel best-selling author Frau Scheunemann has created a proper cat hero. With Winston she has produced a humorous, multi-layered series, whose success is based not least on its narrator's original view-point. Winston the cat is amazed by people and frequently shows up their 'sensible' behaviour as truly idiotic, albeit always with a twinkle in his eye. A hugely enjoyable read, not just for cat lovers!

What happens in Volume 7:

A single parent. That's what Winston's new job is since Odette left him alone with the kitties. No more being a master detective or super agent! But right in the moment when Winston almost falls asleep, spooky things start happening. First, Werner's car disappears, then Babuschka's purse and finally, someone leaves a threatening letter in the flat. Signed: The Phantom! It's crystal clear that the best detective duo of all times has to investigate! Kira and Winston immediately get down to work...
