Story

All aboard please! Our new series of fact-based books for children feature a magic steam engine which takes readers on exciting journeys to unknown worlds.

The magic engine is home to Professor Zweistein, the caretaker at the kindergarten in the old railway station. Professor Zweistein knows everything, and his magic engine transports him and the children to the most unusual and exciting places - amidst bellows of steam and noise.

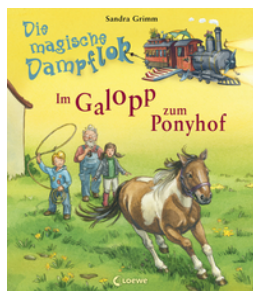

In this new fact-based book series for children from the age of 4, important areas of knowledge are discussed with the content perfectly tailored to the target readership.

Specialised information presented on fold-out pages and in explorer's logs at the end of the books complements the exciting narratives.
