Story

0% human and 100% android

At first glance, Andro Newman seems like a normal boy - but Andro is a robot who is secretly smuggled into a school class as a human boy. Mission: to explore the humans and not to be exposed under any circumstances. Easier said than done, because these terribly illogical beings called humans and their strange habits have to be understood first. But the AI android 3.0-m, correction, Andro Neumann, has to get through it now: his builders have given him a clear goal!

- Situational comedy meets a great narrative voice
- Varied layout with different fonts, vignettes and illustrations
- Special hook: a robot goes undercover at school
