Story

The protagonist of Mechthild Gläser's latest novel is sixteen-year-old Emma, a modern-day Emma Woodhouse, based on the heroine of Jane Austen's famous novel.

Emma has a very clear idea of what constitutes her perfect life, and will go to great lengths to achieve it. So imagine her delight when she finds an old notebook and quickly realises that whatever she writes down in it comes true. The notebook is the perfect way for Emma to create the perfect life she has dreamed of for herself and her friends.

But having managed several times to manipulate reality with the help of the mysterious notebook, Emma realises that the rash things she has written have the potential to put both herself and her classmates in danger...

The protagonist of Mechthild Gläser's latest novel is sixteen-year-old Emma, a modern-day Emma Woodhouse, based on the heroine of Jane Austen's famous novel. Emma has a very clear idea of what constitutes a perfect life, and will go to great lengths to achieve it. So, imagine her delight when she finds an old notebook and quickly realises that whatever she writes down in it comes true. Now, Emma can create the perfect life she has dreamed of for herself and her friends.

But having managed several times to manipulate reality, she realises that the rash things she has written have the potential to put both herself and her classmates in danger...

Mechthild Gläser

Mechthild Gläser was born in Essen, in the Summer of 1986, and has a degree in Politics, History and Economics. Today, she still lives and works in the Ruhr area of Germany, where she occasionally dances ballet incredibly badly, but only when nobody is looking. She loves to think up abstruse stories, and has started writing at an early age. She finds inspiration everywhere, at best when drinking a cup of peppermint tea. Mechthild Gläser has been awarded the Seraph prize for fantasy.
