Story

About a magical first love

A black panther turns up in a small town, terrifying the local residents. Only Nina is able to get close to the animal. She senses the mysterious power of the panther, which seems to want to be near her and even lets her touch it. But a panther needs freedom and, even more importantly, huge amounts of fresh meat every day. Can Nina trust Lionel, the only son of the town's rabble-rousing sausage manufacturer?

Sometimes you need a little magic to find yourself – and your first love. And nobody tells that story quite like Bettina Belitz, who writes with comedy and poetry in equal measure.

- By bestselling author Bettina Belitz ('A Splintred Heart')
- Complex and individual characters in a strong romance novel

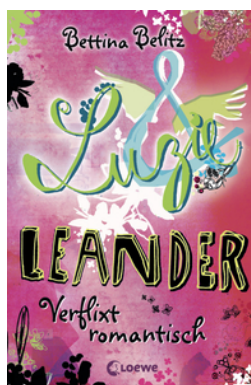

Bettina Belitz

Bettina Belitz was born in Heidelberg in 1973, and very soon fell under the spell of the book shelves. It wasn't long before reading wasn't enough – no, she had to scribble her own stories down, too. After university, Bettina Belitz worked as a journalist until she was able to devote herself to her youthful enthusiasms. Nowadays, she lives surrounded by horses, sheep, cats and chickens in a village of 400 inhabitants in Westerwald, where she is inspired by nature and weather to write her novels.
