Story

This non-fiction book provides an introduction to 33 of the most important people in history – people everybody should know about. They include rulers such as Julius Caesar, politicians such as Nelson Mandela, writers such as Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, inventors such as Leonardo da Vinci, scientists such as Marie Curie and explorers such as Ferdinand Magellan. Each biography is prefaced by a particularly formative experience or event for the historical figure in question, prompting readers to guess: who was that?

- 33 Historical Figures at a glance
- Biographies represented in an exciting way: the reader has to guess who is who

Christine Schulz-Reiss

Christine Schulz-Reiss was born in 1956. She studied German literature, history, politics and communication sciences. She started working for several large German daily newspapers and first became a political news reporter, then deputy manager of the reports section of an important Munich-based newspaper. Since 1991 she has worked as a free-lance journalist, writing for various magazines, with a particular focus on adolescents - sometimes inspired by her own daughter. In 2004 she published her first book, "Guide to Politics" and was nominated for the Gustav-Heinemann-Peace-Award for it. In the meantime she has written several successful titles for Loewe, covering amongst others abstract issues such as ethics and philosophy in an entertaining and illustrative manner.

In all her books, she processes knowledge in a captivating and informative way, and succeeds in linking this knowledge with the immediate surrounding of her readers - she demonstrates how politics, ethics, or philosophy touch the lives of adolescents. In lectures held for students, teachers and parents she indicates how knowledge can be conveyed in a manner appropriate for adolescents.

Christine Schulz-Reiss and her family live near Munich.
