Story

High up-to-the-minute topic: Artificial Intelligence with philosophical depth

- Prequel to Boy in a White Room (nominated for the German YA Literature Award 2018)

Manuel's body is completely paralyzed, he suffers from the incurable nerve disease ALS – like his idol Stephen Hawking. Then, he finds out about a project, where an entire computer simulation of the brain is being developed. The scan will destroy Manuel's brain. Is he really willing to undergo that risk?
